

How To's

How do you create a .plist file on the iphone and then import it in the desktop application and print the report off? Also if I bought the Statbook app for the iphone do I have to also buy the desktop application?

The iPhone app is free but does not allow for reports and managing your stats.

Here is a link which may help you understand the iPhone App and desktop App interact as well as the steps to import and export.
